Trying to Figure Out What to Do and Where to Go?

Who Can I Ask for Assistance?

Who Will Help Me?

What Are My Options?

Where am I going to :

- live?
- get food?
- find a job?
- get the medications I need?
- find a doctor or therapist?

I have no job skills, where can I get training?

Project SAFE Alamance

What is the Reentry Initiative?

The Reentry Initiative is a partnership between Project SAFE Alamance and other community agencies, businesses, faith based groups and individuals united to help make the transition from prison back into the community smoother and more effective. Members of the Reentry Initiative provide assistance in obtaining the necessary resources that you will need to restart your life in your community. They will mentor and educate you so you can make the best decisions for yourself and your family. The Facilitator for the Reentry Initiative is the PSA Resource Coordinator who was hired in 2008 using a Governor's Crime Commission grant and in-kind assistance from the City of Burlington's Police Department.

The role of the Resource Coordinator is to create and promote community outreach, and to develop an extensive pool of needed resources for those persons being notified and those offenders reentering the community. The Resource Coordinator places a notified or reentering person together with the assistance programs they need to enable them to gain the necessary skills and mind set to keep from reoffending.
